MACLEAN LIBRARY
Possible acquisitions for the Maclean Library

The Clan Maclean Heritage Trust, which owns the Maclean Library and Archive, is anxious to build up the Maclean Library.

The Maclean Library is quite small. This is partly because various books went missing, many years ago, when the library was transferred from one library to another in Glasgow. It is now safely housed in the Isle of Mull Museum in Tobermory. It is also small because it has not been kept up-to-date.

The following is a list of books that the trustees would, in particular, like to have in the Maclean Library. In addition, genealogies of Maclean families are always welcome.

Please be very sure when presenting a book to contact the Acting Secretary of CMHT (The Very Rev. Allan Maclean of Dochgarroch, 5 North Charlotte Street, Edinburgh, United Kingdom; cmht@maclean.org) to tell us that you are doing so, and also, when sending them to the Isle of Mull Museum, to state that they are "for the Maclean Archive". This will enable museum staff to catalogue and store the book or other material correctly.

While many of the older books may be found on the internet, it would probably be wiser to check with the Secretary of CMHT whether a fair price is being quoted, before you purchase.
